

TO POST THE WORLD FOR LEWIS

AND FOR D'ARNAE, THIRD MAN NAMED IN TRUNK MURDER

Circulars With Photographs, Descriptions and Histories of Both Men May Find Them Out. Lewis Meditated a Trip to South Africa in 1907. It Is Said.

Detectives who have been trying to solve the murder revealed by the discovery on November 17 of a man's body in a trunk in the basement of the apartment house at 131 West Fifty-fourth street have progressed so far that an order has been given by Deputy Commissioner Flynn for the printing of a large number of circulars which shall contain descriptions of Albert C. Callier, the French artist who is believed to have been the murdered man, and William Lewis, the Irish water who connection with the murder the detectives have pretty definitely established. These circulars will be distributed abroad, particularly in France, as well as in this country and Canada.

The circulars will display photographs of both men, copied from original photographs of Callier and Lewis have put in the detectives' hands. As complete a description of Callier as can be furnished by those who knew him when he was the companion of Lewis and of Henri d'Arnae will be incorporated in the circular. It is believed that when the descriptive sheet is put in the hands of the French Surete in Paris and by them distributed through Normandy, where Callier's family is believed to be living, some word will come to New York Headquarters which will assist in throwing more light on what still remains a very dark enigma.

Though the detectives have been working assiduously until late in the evening, it has been known yesterday that the identification of the identity of the men who played a part in the events which led to the trunk murder is in the hands of the French Surete. The two men were stopped by a blank wall through which no words could be heard. After the lapse of weeks the figures of both Lewis and d'Arnae, the two men presumed to be still living who alone know of the murder, showing dimly, and beyond establishing the fact that there were some other persons connected with the trunk murder, the only knowledge each had of the Headquarters men have been able to follow them to the near present.

They found one man yesterday who was able to give information concerning the whereabouts of Lewis, which if verified will open a new lead in the trunk murder. A salesman in the White bakery on Catherine street, said that he believed that Lewis had left New York for South Africa in the latter part of the year. The water had been in the vicinity of Kimberley or Johannesburg, Critchley said, and with these friends Lewis had kept up a regular correspondence during all his stay in South Africa. Lewis told Critchley the last time that the latter saw him that he had heard that a shipload of mules from the West was to be forwarded to the port of Cape Town in South Africa and that he had made up his mind to go as a mule wrangler, and thus get transportation to the British colony. Because he had seen nothing more of Lewis, Critchley included the latter followed his announced intention.

One reason why the detectives are so anxious to lay their hands on d'Arnae is because he is believed to have been the man who filled the trunk with the body of Lewis. It was said by a member of the staff yesterday to have been suggested that d'Arnae, in which the inner zinc shell of the trunk sarcophagus in which Callier's body was found, was sealed. They are working on the theory that no one without some technical knowledge would have so cleverly disguised such inhuman inhuman the body under double precaution of wood and plaster of Paris. It is thought that Lewis himself did not possess either the initiative or the skill to have done the work so thoroughly and that d'Arnae must have been the man to suggest this method of preserving the detection of the body even if he did not actually assist in the work of sealing in the body.

Still another of the men who have told the detectives of their time acquaintance with Lewis is a man named Baroni, who lives at 131 West Fifty-fourth street. Baroni says that he knew Lewis as a waiter in the Steeplechase Hotel at Coney Island in 1907, the year after that Baroni advised that he met Lewis on the street in New York not later than a year ago. Baroni is just as certain as all the other posthumous friends of Lewis that he knew the man who wanted now.

AERO NATIONAL COUNCIL

Effort Likely to Be Made to Change It to an Independent Body

Aeronautical circles were surprised yesterday when Clifford B. Harmon, chairman of the national council of the Aero Club of America, announced that he would sail for Europe on November 30. An election of officers of the club is scheduled for December 6.

The general impression had been that Mr. Harmon would be a candidate for reelection and there is much speculation as to who will be his successor. There is talk of Cortlandt Field Bishop, formerly president of the Aero Club, heading the opposition to the reelection of Harmon to this organization, which at present is affiliated with the Aero Club may form itself into an independent body and may make an effort to support the parent body in its foreign relations with the International Aeronautic Federation.

The national council of the Aero Club is composed of representatives from affiliated clubs throughout the United States and was organized last June.

Allan A. Ryan is president of the Aero Club of America.

CHURCH IN TWO CITIES

The New St. Barnabas Will Be in Both New York and Yonkers.

YONKERS, Nov. 25.—The building departments of Yonkers and New York city are concerned over the unusual circumstances attending the proposed erection of the Catholic church of St. Barnabas on the Hudson river in Yonkers, between the McLean Heights. The structure is to be erected at 23rd street and Martha avenue on a plot situated partly in New York and partly in Yonkers.

To secure permission to erect the church it was necessary to get permits from the building departments of both cities. Plans were filed today with Building Inspector Bartley of this city. As the building regulations here differ in many respects from those in New York the building authorities of the two municipalities will have to confer in order to determine upon the rules to govern the construction of the church.

BRANDENBURG MISSING

The Author Fails to Appear When His Case Is Called for Trial.

BRONX, Nov. 25.—Physicians charged with forgery in the second degree, did not appear when his case was called for trial yesterday before Judge Rosinsky in General Sessions. Brandenburg's bail, which was $750, was ordered forfeited for the non-appearance of the lawyer said that he thought his client was in New Jersey and that he would be back by Monday. Judge Rosinsky said that if he returned the writ of habeas corpus would not be granted, but the bench warrant was not withdrawn.

ALLEGED GRAPTEE GIVES BAIL

He Is the Fifteenth in Queens and Two Are Still to Be Heard From.

James J. Cosgrove of 278 Flushing avenue, Astoria, head of a political association bearing his name, appeared before Judge Humphrey in the Queens County Court, Long Island City, yesterday and was released in $500 bail on three indictments charging him with petty larceny. He is one of those indicted in connection with the graft roundup made by Special Deputy Attorney-General Arthur C. Train in Queens.

Cosgrove was the fifteenth man to be arraigned. He is charged with drawing money for a "tin horse and cart" which, according to his testimony given before Commissioner Samuel H. Ordway, who is investigating the charges filed against President Lawrence Greaser of Queens, was put to his credit by an unknown dark man who called at his home one evening before the primary of last year. The bogus outfit earned him three payments, hence the three indictments.

Two other reputed owners of bogus horses and carts are wanted to complete the list of men under indictment. It is said that several months ago one of the men bought a farm in New Jersey and that the other recently sold out a saloon in Astoria. It is understood that as soon as they can be notified they will probably put in an appearance.

According to the evidence given before Commissioner Ordway, whose investigation is in no way connected with the inquiry being made by Mr. Train, the man who was formerly in the city "tin horses and carts" on the city payroll is Robert P. Cook, a former saloon keeper of Astoria and Daniel Morchauser, a baker who formerly lived in Astoria but is now running a farm somewhere in New Jersey.

FORGOT NAME OF HIS BANK

Former President Division of the Frisco. Makes Good Westley Check.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—A. J. Davidson, former president of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, who forgot in what bank he had a checking account and as a consequence was "compelled" to draw a worthless paper, suddenly recalled everything to-day, righted as many of the wrongs that his lapse of memory had caused as he could, then slipped out of sight once more.

The real event of the day for Davidson was a conference in the office of the controller of the Congress Hotel Company. Shortly before that time he was ushered into the office on the parlor floor of the hotel, where he met five intimate friends picked from his Chicago and St. Louis railroad associates.

Thomas Joyce, controller for the hotel, drew from his desk a check drawn on the Commercial Bank of St. Louis for $3,014 by Davidson. It had been accepted and cashed by the hotel, forwarded to the bank and returned with the legend stamped upon its face "No funds."

"What about this?" demanded the hotel man.

"H. M. I simply forgot the name of the bank," replied Davidson. "I mean the Commercial National Bank of St. Louis." Davidson announced that he would replace the bad check by one that would be backed up by funds. This he did by drawing one for a like figure on the Commercial National Bank of St. Louis.

CHICAGO Police Catch George Benedict Asleep in Cabin.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—A spectacular climax to the long series of bomb outrages in Chicago came to-day when George Benedict, charged with being the person who manufactured many of the bombs, and also with having stolen miles and miles of wire from telephone lines extending out of Chicago, was arrested in his hidden cabin near the Des Plaines river, between Summit and Argo.

Stealing up from the rear of Benedict's cabin, hidden away in dense bushes, the raiders found him asleep in his bunk. The cabin had never been carefully examined until the raid of to-day drew attention to it.

RULING ON WIRE CONDUITS

Electric Lines Co. Fails in Its Action Against the Empire City.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court denied yesterday the application of the New York Electric Lines Company for a writ of mandamus compelling the Empire City Subway company, which controls the subway for electrical wires, to permit the plaintiff company to install telegraph and telephone wires. The plaintiff contends that its franchise to operate in the city was granted in 1883 when the Board of Aldermen gave the former owner of the franchise permission to use the city streets. The Appellate Division holds that this permission does not constitute a franchise and that since the consent has been revoked the plaintiff company has no such "lawful power" to operate as entities it to a writ of mandamus.

FRESH PORK AT 15 CENTS

Bacon Also Down Two Cents and Further Cuts Expected.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—The price of fresh pork another tumble to-day and some stores sold pork chops for 15 cents a pound. Bacon has declined 2 cents and another drop is expected, but smoked ham prices have not been lowered.

Some grades of round steak is lower, and some downtown butchers sold two pounds for 25 cents to-day. The higher beef cuts have not been changed, except in cheaper grades, which are a cent cheaper than last week.

Despite the slow decline of the retail price of beef, cattle are selling at the livestock yards much cheaper than ten days ago, and a decline in retail prices is expected soon.

VETERAN DETECTIVE DIES

David Stoddard Worked Under Capt. Webb in the Old Days.

David Stoddard, who was one of the original plain clothes men under Capt. Webb years ago, died on Thursday at the age of 81 at his home at 57 Washington place. Stoddard was known as the Kid Detective in the days when Schmittberger, Price, Dunlap and Westervelt were youngsters under Capt. Webb. He was backed up in force for thirty years and retired in 1896.

He was born in the old third ward and lived in that same ward until his death. He was a member of Ocean Lodge and had seen service in the United States navy on board the U. S. S. Farragut.

U. S. Judge R. W. Taylor Stricken

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 25.—Stricken by acute indigestion while seated in Engineers Hall to-night just before the opening of a bazaar for the benefit of St. Luke's Hospital, United States Judge Robert Wick Taylor is in Lakeside Hospital in a critical condition. Physicians refuse to admit a probability of immediate fatal result, though conceding that Judge Taylor's condition is critical.

May Not Use Jack Binns's Name.

The Vitagraph Company of America is restrained by an order of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday from using the name of John R. Binns, the wireless operator, in moving picture films. The order was made in answer to public and in circulars relating to the films.

FOR TARRING AND FEATHERING

Court's Remarks as to the Offense Upon Passing Sentence.

MARY LANSING, N. J., Nov. 25.—Charles Quinn, tarrer and featherer, and James Schmitt, who tarred and feathered Farmer Frank Schmitt at McKee City because they objected to his alleged attentions to Mrs. Lena Schmitt, a widow, were sentenced to-day by Judge E. A. Higbee, Quinn and Vaughn to three months in the county jail and $300 fine each. Sears to pay a fine of $300 and to stand committed until it is paid.

The men pleaded guilty to the charge on Monday before Judge Higbee, who deferred sentence until he had investigated the affair and interviewed Mrs. Schmitt. In passing sentence Judge Higbee said:

"You have pleaded guilty to this charge, which is one of the most outrageous and heinous crimes that ever came before this court. Outside of homicide cases, you deliberately left your home to tar and feather this old man, and you lay in wait for him. Were it not for the fact that you have families dependent upon you for support, coupled with the probability that you did not realize the enormity of the crime, and because your friends have interceded in your behalf, I should be inclined to impose the maximum sentence."

"You pleaded justification because of moral circumstances, but that was no excuse for taking the law into your own hands. I understand that two years ago you organized a band to forcibly take the law into your own hands and that you were active in the same. I feel it is my duty to impose a sentence that will not only punish you and bring you to a proper respect for the law, but impress upon others the fact that there is a proper recourse for wrongs and that to act as you did is a criminal offense."

METAL WORKERS' LOCKOUT OFF

Labor Dispute Over Settling Metal Doors to Be Settled by Arbitration.

The Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers agreed at a special meeting in Webster Hall, Eleventh street near Third avenue, last night to a proposition accepted on behalf of the employers last week by which the strikes and lockout of the sheet metal workers will be ended and the point in dispute settled by arbitration.

The point in dispute was as to whether the carpenters of the sheet metal workers should have the right to set hollow metal doors and trim. The carpenters had been doing the work and the sheet metal workers began to strike against carpenters who were doing the work. The sheet metal workers were locked out by the employers. The Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers were locked out by the employers. The Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers were locked out by the employers.

The proposition was agreed to by committee of both sides and the meeting of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers in the afternoon. It was submitted at the Webster Hall meeting by Michael J. Roagan, James McManus and George J. Lewis, Board of Mediation and Arbitration.

ANANIAS CLUB HONORS

Ohio's Only Resident Member Gets a Gold Medal and a Banquet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 25.—One of the most unique affairs resulting from the late campaign was the dinner given here to-night to Gen. Thomas E. Powell celebrating his initiation into the Ananias Club.

This resulted from his telegram to Theodore Roosevelt the day preceding Roosevelt's entry in Ohio to speak against Gov. Harmon, advising him that the Governor was the same Judson Harmon who as special counsel advised him to proceed against Paul Morton or retaining when he was a member of the Roosevelt cabinet and who resigned when the Administration failed to proceed and originate a charge against the President. Paul Morton when shown the way by Judson Harmon.

Upon receipt of this telegram Roosevelt pronounced Powell a liar and proceeded to denounce Harmon and said he had been recant to the people with the result that the official returns show Harmon received 100,000 plurality.

This consignment of Gen. Powell, who was a former Democratic candidate for Governor to the Ananias Club, was provocative of much amusement throughout the State and generalized in a dinner here to-night at which he was presented with a gold medal as the only resident Ohio member of the Ananias Club, as Bellamy and Mr. Storrs are the only non-residents.

There was a distinguished list, numbering among others six Democratic candidates for United States Senator and one Republican. The dinner was entirely non-partisan.

INTERNS TURNED OUT

Five of Them Suspended From the Pater-Son General Hospital.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 25.—Five interns at the Pater-Son General Hospital have been suspended by Supt. Zulke for an infraction of the rules and for two days the hospital staff consisting of thirty-two local practicing physicians, has taken turns at doing hospital duty. Supt. Zulke acting as ambulance surgeon.

The interns suspended are Dr. Scanlan, house physician, Dr. Miers, Dr. Hanum, Dr. Olsen and Dr. Bender.

The interns have been smarting under a recent two month suspension for attending a dance of the nurses without leave. When they appeared for breakfast yesterday morning they found the dining room door locked. All of them walked out and had breakfast at a restaurant. When they returned, Supt. Zulke told them they were suspended.

It was a most serious infraction of the rules and I for one believe the executive committee should dismiss them," Judge Frank Van Cleave, president of the hospital board, said to-day.

The interns complained that they were irritated because their quarters were unsatisfactory. That is a misrepresentation," the superintendent declared when he learned of the complaint. "The quarters have as clean and comfortable quarters as the interns of any hospital in the State and they have never made any complaint about them."

They have simply shown a disposition of late to ignore the rules.

SCHOONER CROWDED AROUND

The Alice Phillips's Tugboat Bill Therefore Goes to $200 to Get Her Clear.

The three masted schooner Alice B. Phillips, Capt. Coffin, scorned the help of a tug yesterday in her trip from New Haven to a Hoboken shipyard for an overhauling and came to grief on the north beach of Governors Island. The skipper might have done the trick as hundreds of other real Yankee navigators did in the days when steam craft did not crowd the channels, but the Monson minor Paloma, bound for the City Ward liner Camaguey for Brooklyn from Hoboken, in an effort to clear about crowded the turn and she was forced aground.

Several tugs helped to haul her off at high tide, charging her about $200. She might have got to Hoboken in tow for about $20. She was stuck in the mud, talking back the skipper thought, so he would before he piled up on the island.

CASINO CAFE MAN ANSWERS

His Brother, a Whitman Assistant, Owed the Place.

But Casino Besides That $55 a Week and $1,500 a Month Are Not Too Much for His Wife—Bankrolls He Carried Were Not His, He Says.

The Casino cafe in the Casino Theatre building has been conducted, under the name of Assistant District Attorney Thomas E. Fitzgerald. This was admitted by Edward F. Fitzgerald, proprietor of the saloon, an affidavit of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday, asking the Court to make only a small allowance for alimony to his wife, Julia F. Fitzgerald, pending her suit for a divorce. Although Fitzgerald insisted that his business is running at a loss, that he would sell out to any one for $1,000, the Appellate Division decided that $35 a week alimony and $1,500 counsel fee is not too much for Fitzgerald to pay.

Mrs. Fitzgerald's affidavits on her motion for alimony became public yesterday when the case was decided by the Appellate Division. She declares that besides owning the Casino cafe her husband owns mineral water stock in his brother's name, and is a partner in a theatrical concern with three companies on the road. She says he has been running a handbook office, and submitted a list of checks amounting to $1,300, alleged to have been drawn by her husband in three weeks for his handbook business.

Mrs. Fitzgerald said of an incident on September 6 last when she followed her husband to Churchill's in a taxicab and found him dining there with Frankie Leslie, a show girl who, Mrs. Fitzgerald says, gets $25 a week from the defendant. Frankie saw her first and cried: "There's your wife, there's your wife."

Some confusion followed, the plaintiff says. Fitzgerald was so angry about this, his wife says, that a few days later he came home at 4 A. M. and when she was asleep in bed, struck her in the face and blackened her eyes. Then he held her in the apartment while he took the carving knife and cut up all her clothing in three places, she says, and then he held her out in her nightgown. She said he slashed the garment while she wore it. She ran into the kitchen and fainted.

When she revived her husband was kicking and said: "Get up, get up, get up," and ran to a bedroom he slashed at her with the knife and cut her face from her nose almost to her ear. She said that when she was examined by a physician not long afterward there were fourteen marks on her body from the knife and from her husband's fists. She says that she would have left the night he attacked her if her clothing had not been ruined and if she had had a cent of money.

Women friends of Mrs. Fitzgerald say that they have seen him with rolls of bills and that he is spending more than $5,000 to $10,000 on one spree.

Fitzgerald said in his replying affidavits that he does not answer any of his wife's allegations, because his defense is that she condoned all his acts. He said he took his lease on the cafe in his brother's name to meet certain business conditions, and that he had a renewal when the lease expires this month. He said that when his wife left him she took everything in their apartment, and he had to pawn his scale of jewelry to meet a business expense.

In explaining about the rolls of bills he had been seen to carry, Fitzgerald said: "My business as proprietor of the cafe has brought me more or less into contact with the class known as 'sporting people.' People of this class use the Court may or may not know, are of peculiar natures and disposition. They comprise a set separate and apart from the ordinary business man, and have a code of honor peculiar to themselves. They have a respect for the law, but they are not disposed to carry large amounts of money upon their person. They are also given to carrying large amounts of money in their pockets, which in practical every case are backed up by cash, generally deposited with some third person. The result is that many times I have been selected as the caretaker of their funds as well as of deposits of money representing their wagers."

ALFRED R. DALBY CONVICTED

Of Assault in First Degree When He Shot His Wife, Teddy Hudson.

Alfred R. Dalby, the theatrical musical director who on the night of July 22 last shot his wife, Teddy Hudson, at 242 West Forty-fifth street, was convicted of assault in the first degree yesterday afternoon before Judge Crain in General Sessions.

Dalby had been on trial all the week. His defense was that when his wife refused to return to him he tried to force her to do so and that the first bullet that he fired at himself accidentally struck his wife in the back. In summing up Assistant District Attorney Leo read a letter written by Dalby to his wife in which he wrote: "We are going on a long journey and we are going together."

Dalby is an Englishman, 35 years old. He was married to his wife, who is 24, that he and his wife separated. The penalty for the crime of which he was convicted is not more than ten years in State prison, the jury five minutes before handing in its verdict reported to the Court that it had agreed upon a verdict, but that several of the jurors were not willing to announce it unless they were asked to do so by the Court.

The Court informed them that it was not the duty of a jury to recommend mercy, though it was a custom. Dalby was sentenced next Wednesday.

INDICTED FOR ROBBERY

Pair Said Also to Have Stolen From Queen Wilhelmina.

From robbing Queen Wilhelmina of Holland down to looting the safe of a resident of Far Rockaway is a long journey in collecting yet this is what James De Lette, a Dutchman and Italian De Moneaster, a lady's maid who were yesterday indicted by the Queens Grand Jury, are said to have done.

The indictment charges that the couple while employed in the household of Samuel Kibbe in Wave Crest, Far Rockaway, in November last, broke open the house safe and got away with more than $2,000 worth of jewelry. They are now in custody in Philadelphia and yesterday U. S. Justice Conway of the Brooklyn headquarters started for that city with a requisition for the prisoners.

It is alleged that De Lette and the De Moneaster woman robbed Queen Wilhelmina while employed in her service.

Almost Killed by Gas He Inadvertently Left On.

William Kiernan, 67 years old, of 554 West Fifty-first street, a paralytic, started to build a fire in a coal stove in the kitchen last night. On the coal stove was a gas stove attached by a tube to the gas jet. Kiernan removed the tube from the jet and tried the gas stove off the coal range and built a fire. Then he lay down in a bedroom adjoining the kitchen.

The gas jet had not been turned off and when his daughter came home from work she found him unconscious on the bed. She turned off the jet and went out and told a policeman, who called an ambulance from Flower Hospital. Her father was taken to the hospital in a very serious condition.

CANADA'S NAVAL PLANS

Four Cruisers and Six Destroyers for Rivers to Cost $55,146,000.

OTTAWA, Nov. 25.—Canada's naval equipment is to be rushed. The whole programme, which has been quietly matured by the Laurier government, is to be sprung upon the opposition in Parliament on Monday to offset the anti-naval policy of the Nationalists and the imperial naval policy of the Conservatives. The Laurier government has received from the British Admiralty the plans and specifications for the Canadian ships which are to be built in Canada and for which bids will be asked from English and Canadian shipbuilders.

The Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine, said to-night:

"We are to have four cruisers of the Bristol class and six destroyers of the river class. Tenders will be advertised for within thirty days. The ships are all to be built in Canada."

The opposition in Parliament has been pounding away all this week at the Laurier government on its navy policy, and the announcement to-night after the House of Commons adjourned till Monday came as a surprise.

The plan known as plan 1 of the Imperial Defence Conference submitted last year showed the estimated cost of building and arming cruisers of the Bristol class based on cost of materials and labor in England—it will be considerably greater in Canada—to be $1,685,000 each, or a total of $5,740,000, while the estimated cost of building and equipping the river class of destroyers was $400,000 each, or $2,400,000 for six. This makes a first minimum expenditure of $8,140,000. The same report, based upon British costs, estimated the total cost of annual upkeep of hulls, machinery, sea stores, fuel, interest and depreciation at 3 per cent, and personnel to be $1,047,000.

Where this money is to come from if a reciprocity treaty involving the substantial lowering of duties on goods coming from the United States is negotiated, one here seems to know. Monday will be a busy day in the House of Commons.

IN MEMORY OF TOLSTOY

Russian and Polish Radicals Meet to Extol the Work of the Late Author.

A memorial service to Tolstoy was held last night at the East Side parish hall of the Church of All Nations. The meeting was under the direction of the Rusky Golos, a Russian newspaper in the city. The hall of the parish is on Second avenue near East Houston street, and it was filled with about 1,500 ardent Russian and Polish Socialists and radicals. Ivan Okuntzoff, the editor of the Rusky Golos, presided and made an address on Tolstoy as a peasant.

Dr. John R. Henry, the head of the parish, in speaking on the influence of Tolstoy in the United States said that if the ideas of the Russian liberator were carried out in this country the 71 per cent. of the entire expenditure of this country that are now spent on war and navy could be devoted to conserving our national resources.

Herman Bernstein, who was personally acquainted with Tolstoy, read excerpts from the Confessions of the late author. Tolstoy two years ago. He quoted Tolstoy as saying his great hope was that the freeing of the soil might be brought about. When asked what he thought was his most important work Tolstoy said that he considered those that related to religious matters of greater moment than his novels. Speaking of the Russian Jews Tolstoy would not admit that there was such a thing as a "Jewish question." "We are all brothers," he said.

The other speakers were B. Kulakow of Warsaw, in Polish, Nicholas Aleinikoff in Russian and M. Spassnik in Russian.

UNION LOSES SUIT

Against Electrical Contractors Who Hired Men From Another Union.

The suit brought by the New York Electrical Workers Union against the Electrical Contractors Association for $150,000 damages because the contractors ceased to employ members of the plaintiff's association was dismissed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday. The union alleged conspiracy by the employers because the latter notified the union that their members would not be employed, but that they would go to work for the contractors. The union alleged that they joined a rival organization, the Inside Electrical Workers of Greater New York.

The contractors objected to the plaintiff union because it refused to abide by an arbitration agreement, and declared that it was to the advantage of the employers to hire men from the inside workers union because it was affiliated with the building trades throughout the country.

The Court holds that no member of the plaintiff union was prevented from getting work, and that the defendant association had the same right to say who should be employed as the plaintiff's members had to say whom they wanted to work for.

Justices Scott and Dowling dissented from the decision, dismissing the suit.

Going to Church of the Pilgrims

The Rev. Leslie W. Sprague, assistant pastor of the Immanuel Congregational Church in Brooklyn, has received a call to the Church of the Pilgrims to become the associate of the Rev. Edward W. Sanderson, the pastor. The Church of the Pilgrims has organized what is called a "forward movement" to reach non-churchgoers on its neighborhood. The associate pastor is to have special charge of this work.
